

Homeless Bars

What do you do when you see a homeless brother or sister?

Do you extend a greeting or look the other way?

This is a perfect time to ...

*LOVE * SERVE * REMEMBER*

A wise sage once told me this:

we are all aspects of God wearing various disguises.

Consider that this could very well be true

and next time you see a homeless person offer gloves, hat, blanket, or food.

Buy a dozen or more 'homeless bars' (aka protein bars)

stash 'em in your car.

As you drive along the streets

offer a homeless bar

in love and compassion

as a blessing from your heart.

*LOVE * SERVE * REMEMBER*

to care for one another

It's why we're here!

The phrase 'homeless bars' was born when friends were inspired to rise up and offer food to the homeless after hearing of a mandate against contributing to panhandlers in Anchorage, Alaska.
